Letter of recommendation for Monika Pramatarova

It gives me great pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Monika Pramatarova. Mrs. Pramatarova is a motivated and talented PhD student. I would like to invite for a research stay in my lab at the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano in November 2023.

Monika is investigating a group of insects that are transmitting agriculturally important pathogens. Her research fits perfectly to the projects which are currently running in my lab. This is why it will be a great opportunity for her to learn several of the state-of-the-art approaches we are doing here in Bolzano. I am confident, that her research stay will be therefore an important step in her scientific career. Additionally, this traineeship will contribute to establishing an important collaboration between the Sofia University and the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano. It will be also an important opportunity for Monika to broaden her scientific network and to establish a long-term collaboration with my research group. Therefore, I would be very grateful if it could financially support Monika's stay in Bolzano.

I am of course available if you have further questions.

Sincerely yours

Prof. Hannes Schuler
